Full size shower, done with Swan Stone, roomy for toilet and for shower.

I saw cut two 90 degree edges on some hand selected beach stones from the Oregon coast for soap shelves.

Best use I found for the area in front of the sink in our rig... a trash can on the door—

Nothing else can fit and stay in that space, because the sink is there. I love my trash can, it used to kick around on the floor... hated that.

Found an Ikea day bed sofa to fit perfectly in here and replace the worthless jack knife bed.

This isn't terribly comfortable, need more pillows, or better foam... I'll fix it. It fits, and for that I'm grateful.

It's also an adequate spare bed. Which is more than I can say for the Jack Knife Bed.

Replaced the cheesy cramped plastic RV lav with this work of art. Made a hug difference in livability. Had to remove the little privacy curtain on the right. But picked up 6" of width for a full 30" x 18" home Bath Lav Experience.

Whilst spending a fortune on custom cabinets, we put this overhead in the rear— much better office storage for us then over the bed.

We've put our table in the back here, and a couch where the table was originally. I'll be relighting this area this winter.
